To Annie.

When all the hills were rich with gold
And beauty bloomed on every tree,
One darling more was in the fold,
One treasure more upon the knee.

Merry Christmas 1866.

When all the fields were white with snow
And seventeen autumns passed away,
By merry Christmas fireside glow
We met that winter holiday.

June 1870.

When all the fields were rich and fair
And bird and brook were all in tune
Two hearts and hands were given there
That quiet lovely day in June.

Happy New Year 1880.

And so the seasons are but three
For Spring and Summer now are one;
And winter only comes to me.
To tell the time when Love began.

THE YOSEMITE.

I.

WAITING to-night for the moon to rise,
O'er the cliffs that narrow Yosemite's skies ;

Waiting for^{*} shadows to pass away,
In the silver light of a midnight day ;
Waiting entranced like one in a dream,
Alone with the night and the rushing stream.

III.

But the darkling shadows dissolve, and now
The moonlight touches "El Capitan's" brow,

And the lesser stars grow pale and dim
Along the sheer-cut mountain rim;
And, touched with magic, the gray walls stand
The living dream of a fairy land.

IV.

Yet I know it is real,
for I see the spray
Of Yosemite Fall in the moonlight play, Swaying and trembling—
a radiant glow,
From the sky above
to the vale below ;
Like the ladder of old
to Jacob given,
A line of light from earth to heaven.

V.

And there comes to my soul
a vision dear
Of angel forms
and voices here;
And I feel the sweet and wondrous power
Of a Presence that fills
the midnight hour;
And I know that Bethel is everywhere—
For prayer is the foot of the angel stair.

VI.

A light divine—a holy rest—
Floods all the valley
 and fills my breast ;
The very mountains are hushed in sleep,

From Eagle Point
 to Sentinel Peak ;
And a life-long lesson is taught me to-night,
When shrouded in shadow
 to wait for the light.

VII.

Waiting at dawn for the morn to break,
By the crystal waters of Mirror Lake ;
Waiting to see the mountains gray,
Clearly defined in the light of day ;
Reflected and throned in beauty here—
A lakelet that seems but "The Valley's Tear."

VIII.

Waiting—but look ! for the Dome so bright
Is floating now in a sea of light ;
And Cloud's Rest, glistening with caps of snow, Inverted stands in the vale below,

With tow'ring peaks
 and cliffs on high
* Hanging to meet another sky.

IX.

O crystal gem in setting rare!

O soul-like mirror
in middle air!

O forest-heart of eternal love—

Earth-born, but pure
as heaven above!

This Sabbath morn
we find in thee

The poet's dream of purity.

X.

The hours pass by, and I'm waiting now
On Glacier Point's o'erhanging brow,
Waiting to see the picture pass,
Like the fleeting show
of a magic glass—Waiting—and still the vision seems Woven of light and colored with dreams.

XI.

But the cloud-capped towers,
and pillars gray, Securely stand in the light of day ;
The Temple wall is firm and sure ;
The worshippers pass,
but It shall endure—
And will while loud
Yosemite calls
To bright Nevada and Vernal Falls.

XII.

O grand and majestic organ-choir
With deep-toned voices that never tire!
O anthem written in notes that glow
On the rainbow bars of Po-ho-no!

O sweet "Te Deum" forever sung
With spray of incense heavenward swung!

XIII.

Thy music my soul with rapture thrills,
And there comes to my lips,
“The templed hills,
Thy rocks and rills”
—a nation’s song,
From valley to mountain borne along;

My country’s temple, built for thee,
Crowned with the “Cap of Liberty”!

XIV.

O country reaching from shore to shore!
O fairest land the wide world o'er!
Columbia dear,
 whose mountains rise
From fertile valleys to sunny skies—
Stand firm and sure, and bold and free,
As thy granite-walled Yosemite!
